DEDICATION

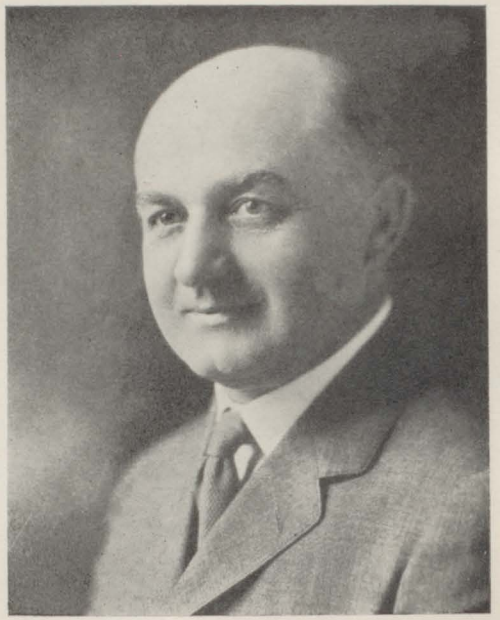
For her kindness, understanding, and readiness to co-operate with everyone, we dedicate this book to Miss Florence E. Wells.

ADMINISTRATION

Chester F. Miller

In Mr. Miller's eight years as superintendent of the schools of the city of Saginaw, he has always found time among his many duties to counsel or assist students in groups or as individuals with school projects or plans for their future—thoroughly believing that all young people should be given opportunity and guidance in developing their interests.

The best education possible for the young people of Saginaw is the unselfish slogan of Mr. Bastian who altruistically brings together the interests of the taxpayer, the school administrators, the teaching staff, and the youth of Saginaw.



Frank E. Bastian

Lillian B. Morgan

A pleasant and profitable three years at Arthur Hill for each student is the aim of Principal Brock in co-ordinating the various phases of school experiences.

Student adjustments—classroom, program, attendance, personal, financial—fall to the understanding counselorship of Miss Morgan, assistant principal, dean of girls, and scholarship chairman.

Lorna M. Schemm

For friendly and efficient service Miss Schemm can not be excelled in office supervision.

I. M. Brock

TEACHING STAFF

With every member of the faculty a member of one of the four school committees, organization for the year began. The work of the four committees was brought together by a central group known as the Co-ordinating Committee with the chairmen of each of the four committees and faculty members of departments serving the whole school as members. On this committee were:

Principal Brock, chairman; Mr. Alvin Ahrens, music department; Mr. Stanley Anderson, athletic department; Miss Mattie Crump, publications; Mr. John Day, Teachers' Affairs; Miss Burnice Gibbs, Student Activities; Miss Ivalita Glascock, art department; Miss Lillian Morgan, assistant principal; Mr. Raymond Morrow, Public Relations; Mr. Stanley Schubert, dramatics department; Miss Irma Stockdale, Curriculum; Mr. B. G. Wells, school treasurer.

The Activity Committee supervised extra-curricular activities. The personnel as arranged:

Miss Gibbs, chairman; Mr. Ahrens, Mr. Anderson, Miss Eloise Bacon, Miss Frances Boynton, Mrs. Sallie Brown, Miss Margaret Doidge, Miss Amy Gatz, Mrs. Dorothy Giesel, Miss Glascock, Miss Edna Gross, Miss Mary Lewis, Miss Morgan, Mr. Schubert, Mr. Eric Senn, Miss Coila Start, and Mr. Wells.

The Curriculum Committee studied changes and possible revisions in subjects as well as supervised assemblies.

Miss Stockdale, chairman; Mr. B. O. Damberg, Mr. A. G. Dersch, Miss Bernice Francis, Miss Frances Goodes, Miss Dorothy Howe, Miss Gertrude Vanderhoof, Miss Florence Wells, and Miss Ella Woodman.

The Public Relations Committee worked for better understanding of the school through its publicity.

Mr. Morrow, chairman; Miss Crump, Miss Elsie Ketelhut, Mr. James Loveless, Miss Ethel Peterson, and Mr. K. C. Poulson.

The Teachers' Affairs Committee considered all projects touching the social and professional life of the teachers.

Mr. Day, chairman; Miss Marguerite Bechtold, Miss Lorna Lange, Mr. Hasler Osborne, Mr. Herman Ramsey, Mr. Robert Shorney, and Miss Lina Ward.

ADVISORIES

The cross-section advisory system, begun in the fall of 1933, is a plan whereby each student is a member of a well-organized group, having equal opportunities for development. Each student receives the attention he needs and works for the betterment of himself and the school.

SEPTEMBER

Elaine Wright

William Carmell

In the contest to obtain a motto for the Student Union advisory placard to honor those who obtained seventy-five per cent Student Union memberships, Elaine Wright, of Miss Ella Woodman's group, took first place with the slogan, "Hill Tops".

By a vote of the entire Student Union organization, William Carmell was chosen president of the Student Union cabinet.

In the same election Norman Geyer was made vice-president.

Lorraine Zorn was voted treasurer.

Clementine Holmes was elected by the cabinet to be its secretary.

Geyer Holmes Zorn

The first meeting of the advisory presidents of the thirty-eight groups was held along with the treasurers to explain the new Student Union bookkeeping sheets for the sale of membership tickets.

OCTOBER

Robert Antle, center, of Mr. Stanley Anderson's advisory, won the intramural golf tourney with a score of 160 for thirty-six holes. Joseph Whitney, right, of Mr. B. G. Wells' group, took second with 165, while Rudolph Steffe, left, of Miss Lorna Lange's home room, was third with 171.

After going through the round-robin elimination series, the Morrow-Mr. Wells team won the girls' intramural volleyball championship by defeating the Schubert-Glascock team.

The presentation of the 1935 football queen, Ellen MacDonald, and her two attendants, Valerie Fordney and Meta Felgner, elected by an all-school vote, was made at the Homecoming assembly. Amusement was caused by a cheerleader backing into a fern pot.

The Lettermen meet for a banquet each Homecoming Day at the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. T. L. Elliott, this year's president of the club, was in charge of the banquet.

HOMECOMING

Of the forty floats entered in the Fifth Homecoming Parade, the winners were narrowed down to four. The first prize for the most clever float went to Miss Lillian Morgan's advisory, "The Game is in the Bag". Mrs. Sallie Brown's group won the first prize in the artistic division with its float, "The Modern Betsy Ross".

Mr. B. G. Wells' advisory won first place for having fifty-one per cent of his group represented in the parade while Mr. Stanley Anderson's float took second with forty-eight per cent. Mrs. Dorothy Giesel's advisory won second place with its float, "Paul Bunyan's Lumberjack Homecoming". Mr. Herman Ramsey's group also won a second place with " 'Hill Tops,' the 1938 Legenda," depicting a new building as the frontispiece of the book.

Honorable mention went to the floats from the advisories of Miss Mattie Crump, Miss Ivalita Glascock, Miss Dorothy Howe, Miss Lorna Lange, and Miss Ethel Peterson.

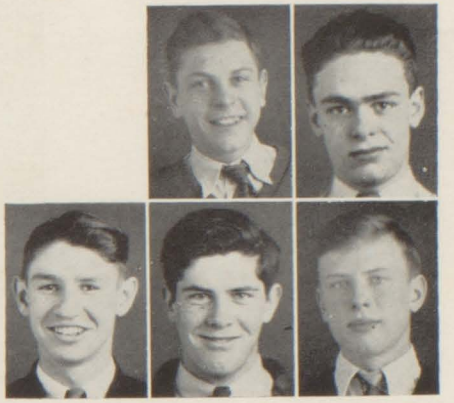
NOVEMBER



For the first time a two and one-quarter mile cross-country race was held at Arthur Hill this year. Speedy Edward Byron of Mr. Stanley Anderson's advisory led all the way, crossing the final line in 14:49. Following him were Philip Hartman, Goodes, 15:30; Charles Morrell, Morgan, 16:02; Freeman Coats, Day, 16:10; and Richard Rice, Poulson, 16:43.

Two hundred and eighty-seven Parent Teacher memberships were successfully campaigned through advisories this year. Miss Mary Lewis' advisory led the contest with 52.77 per cent memberships. Jean McFarland, campaign leader of Miss Lewis' group, displays the banner her group received.

Heading the boys' intramural sports program was volleyball. Mr. John Day's team won the volleyball championship with Miss Eloise Bacon's team as runner-up.

Center: Standing—Albert Dolfi, Harry Davis. Seated—Frank Dieke, Frank Clark, and Fred Dill.

Right: Standing—Gottfried Baker, Philip Binasio. Seated—Edward Bellenbaum, John Berg, Reinhold Brown, and John Blackney.

In the Scramblegram contest which was held to advertise the Junior play, Harriet Hollies of Miss Edna Gross' advisory took first prize, while Lorraine Genske of Mrs. Dorothy Giesel's group and Myrtle Fobear of Miss Ivalita Glascock's group tied for second prize.

Marian Butzin, Mrs. Brown's advisory; Phyllis Pike, Peterson; Elaine Elliott, Osborne; Doris Benford, Day; Jane Reibschleger, Ramsey; Helen Duckwitz, Francis; and Norman DeShone, Bacon.

To give an accurate account of the weekly Student Union payments, the Weekly Report Committee, John Pierson, chairman, mimeographed this report sheet. Each Friday it is filled out by the advisory treasurers, handed in, and tabulated into one report sheet for the school.

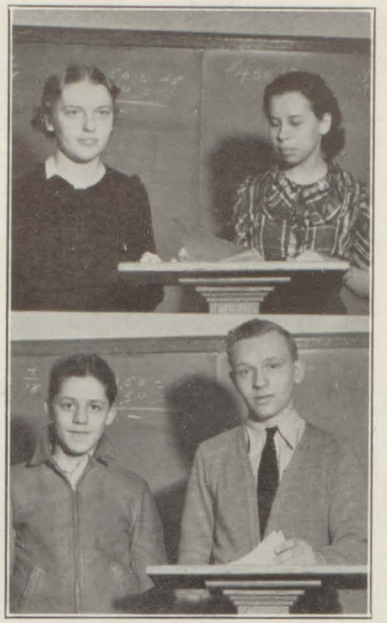
MARCH



Despite a change in sides, Lee Pinnell and John Pierson, Mr. Raymond Morrow's intramural debate team, defeated Miss Edna Gross' team of Harriet Hollies and Betty Holt by superior arguments and lively rebuttal. This year's subject for intramural debate was "Resolved, That the State of Michigan should adopt a policy of Socialized Medicine". During the noon hour each day teams representing thirty-six advisories argued in the elimination series.

Miss Burnice Gibbs sponsored the student debaters and chose the various chairmen, while Lorraine Genske, student debate chairman, arranged and announced the schedules.

Leading the scoring all through the intramural basketball tournament, Miss Lina Ward's boys team rolled merrily on to the championship.

Mr. K. C. Poulson's team was runner-up.

APRIL

After winning at Arthur Hill and entering the Sub-district Forensic Contest held at the North Intermediate auditorium, John Pierson took third place in oratory with his original oration, "Murder on Wheels."

In the extempore division of the same contest Day Radebaugh placed third with his speech "Roosevelt and the 'Square Deal'."

After defeating all competitors at Arthur Hill and in the Sub-district Contest, Ellen Fleischmann, sophomore declaimer of Miss Burnice Gibbs' advisory, proceeded to the final round of the Forensic Declamation Contest. There she won highest honors of the state. For this she was given a dictionary and the school received a banner.

Out of one hundred seventy-five enthusiastic girls, four came out winners in the ping-pong tournament. Elinor Alderton, of Mr. Alvin Ahrens advisory, took first; Ruth Boyd, Doidge, second; Marcelle Filiatraut, Gatz, third; and Betty Willard, Woodman, fourth.

The boys' ping-pong tournament brought out many fine players and aroused much interest. Eighteen hundred games were played in four weeks. Ralph Banfield captured the school singles championship by defeating Howard Fellows, 3 to 2. The Hauffe-Powers doubles team triumphed over the Simon-Schachtner team for the school doubles championship.

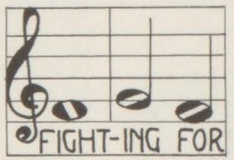
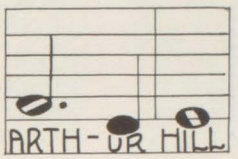
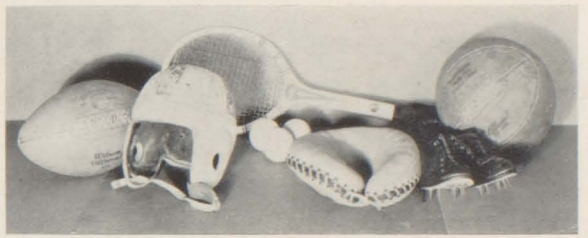
ACTIVITIES

Often times the Student Union ticket is underrated. Many still do not realize its importance. Without it many activities would either be dropped or seriously curtailed.

The activities represented are supported through Student Union funds and sponsored through the Co-ordinating Committee.







The Co-ordinating Committee which brought together the various activities supported by the Student Union includes the following teachers: Mr. Stanley Anderson, athletic department; Mr. Alvin Ahrens, music department; Miss Irma Stockdale, Curriculum; Miss Mattie Crump, publications; Mr. Stanley Schubert, dramatics department; Miss Burnice Gibbs, Student Activities; Miss Ivalita Glascock, art department; Miss Lillian Morgan, assistant principal; Mr. Raymond Morrow, Public Relations; Mr. B. G. Wells, school treasurer; and Mr. I. M. Brock, principal.

Art Club—James Durham, president, first semester; Clarence Mauch, president, second semester; Jane Ritcher, vice-president, first semester; Mildred Schemm, vice-president, second semester; June Heyn, secretary-treasurer, first and second semesters.

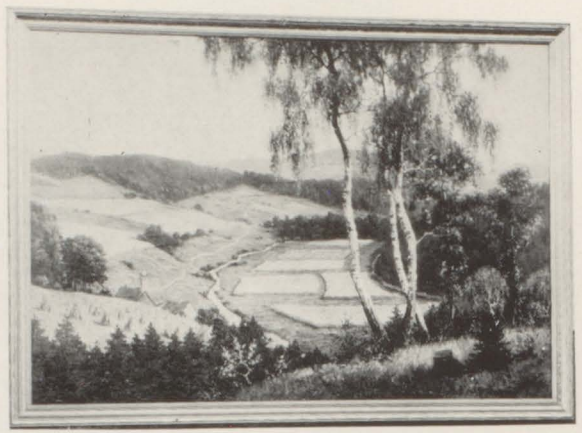
ARTS

Jerry Grashaw placed second in the city and third in the state judging of the Conservation Slogan - Poster Contest sponsored by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan. His slogan-poster was "Consider the Future Fires or Forests."

ART CLUB

During the year the club had many talks on the History of Art and the Modern Trends of Art. Talks on commercial art and on "Development of Modern Stage Design, Costume, and Makeup" were given.

The club had many happy times enjoying a sleigh ride, quilt exhibit, tea, and style show. With the money from a successful rummage sale they bought a beautiful picture, "The Valley," which hangs in the hall.



Helena Hanson

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

During their first year as members of the American Home Economics Association, the girls under the sponsorship of Miss Lorna Lange and Miss Florence Wells, have tried to carry out the purpose of the club which is to create interest in the subject and get the girls acquainted.

Helena Hanson, who got the most points for activities connected with the club, was sent as Arthur Hill's delegate to the state convention of the Home Economics Club.

At one interesting meeting Mr. Emil Schwaun gave a talk on Russian clothes. In November they sponsored a Thanksgiving basket. In December they made dolls, toys, and clothes for the little children whom they entertained at a Christmas party.

Socially, they have had a mother and daughter tea, an Easter egg hunt for the city orphans, and a tea dance.

The Home Economics Club's Christmas party for their young friends.

DEBATE

The 1935-36 debate season might be compared to a teeter-totter—losing to Pontiac; making up for the loss by beating Saginaw High; losing to Bay City, winning from Flint Central; and ending the season by losing to Flint Northern to retain third place in the Valley standing on the question, "Resolved, That the several nations should make government monopolies of the manufacture and sale of all combat instruments of war."

Debaters Walter Wilkins, William Carmell, Lorraine Zorn, Mr. Eric Senn, John Fleischmann, Day Radebaugh.

PTA

These mothers and fathers of the Arthur Hill Parent Teachers Association sponsored a dancing class for students, a public speaking class for adults, aided the clothing department with improvements on the band suits and most important, studied the situation of getting a new high school.

Top row, left to right—Principal Brock, Mr. George Harden, Mr. W. L. Burchill, Mrs. E. L. Deibel, Mrs. William Steckert, Mrs. R. M. Hayden, and Mrs. M. E. Lown.

DRAMATICS

The 1935 Commencement exercises, sponsored by the Arts Dramatics Club, consisted of scenes depicting the important steps in three centuries of progress in American education from the first school in Boston to the present times at Arthur Hill.

Arts Dramatics Club—Lorraine Zorn, president; Jean Dersch, vice-president; Marvis Schwartz, secretary-treasurer.

Seated—Lorraine Zorn, the Spirit of Education. Standing—Marion Greenwald, Jean Dersch, Myrtle Bohstedt, Clementine Holmes, Barbara Love, and Marvis Schwartz.

The famous Kalamazoo Case with Justice Cooley reading the court's favorable decision on vocational education. Standing—Russell Staffeld, as the Justice. Seated—Robert Howie, Walter Wilkins, and Robert Delong.

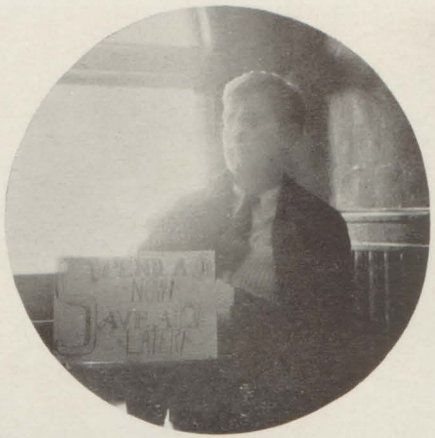
LANGUAGES

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

Singing German songs and giving plays in German at their meetings aided Der Deutsche Verein members in learning their chosen language.

The club enjoyed a full year. They gave a Thanksgiving basket, held a Christmas party, a reunion dinner in the Annex, and the annual picnic.

"Seigried," a play, given with eighteen-inch puppets made by the members, and the selling of book covers were the club's projects.



The German Club's book cover sale.

LATIN CLASSES

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

A variety of activities occupied the French Club during the year. A Christmas party for about twenty small girls with games and presents was given, a potluck dinner at which the new members were initiated, and ended the year with a picnic.

During meetings French reports and current events were given and French songs were sung. A French Major Bowes' Amateur Hour and a short French play were put on by the members.

ESPANOLE

In carrying out the purpose of the club to promote an interest in the Spanish language and literature, the club had many outside speakers. Spanish games and the singing of Spanish songs were enjoyed along with reports on Spanish-speaking countries.

The club gave a Christmas party for eight small boys, a theater party, and a picnic during the year.

RESERVES

Sponsorship of an all-school amateur program, a Thanksgiving basket, Christmas, theater, and ping-pong parties were a few of the activities of the Girl Reserves, besides talks on make-up, spring fashions, and personality. The girls had a hobo party, picnic, and a joint meeting and ceremonial with Saginaw High.

Throughout the year the club sponsored candy sales at all school games and plays and ushered for the "Celebrity Series" at the Auditorium.

Winners of the amateur program:

Top—Valerie Fordney, Personality Club president, first semester; Isabel Hayden, second semester; June Heyn, Girl Reserve president.

PERSONALITY

Because of interest about personality developed from a talk at a Girl Reserve meeting, a group of girls under the sponsorship of Miss Eloise Bacon and Miss Lina Ward formed the Personality Club to develop poise and personality.

The club gave a tea and made dolls and scrapbooks for sick children.

What? The group of editors and advanced journalists.

When? Every third hour.

Where? In the newspaper "office" adjoining the journalism room.

Why? To turn out sixteen bi-weekly issues of the Arthur Hill News.

Best in the state of Michigan in their fields was the title that Phyllis Pike, left, and Alice Lord were awarded by Scholastic magazine. Phyllis' feature story, "The First Legenda." and Alice's column, "Little News," won them the honors.

Sitting around the table in the cafeteria-gym-auditorium-ballroom Annex are some of the journalists from the various schools which comprise the Saginaw Valley Press Association. Clementine Holmes, News editor, was chief hostess at this meeting, November 23.

LEGENDA

Making a yearbook looks so easy that every staff member thinks his book is going to be much better than that of the previous year.

But after lists days and days and typing days and days and pictures and copy days and nights, only twenty out of the sixty applicants remained to see the book complete.

The group endeavored to improve the book by interpreting as closely as possible the current year, adding eight pages, and buying a better cover.

The staff will not feel that all their work has been in vain if the subscribers enjoy reading the book as much as they enjoyed publishing it for them.

QUILL and SCROLL

After catapulting a mediocre team into third place in his first year, James C. Loveless, football coach, went one better this year by finishing second headed only by Flint Northern. A Loveless team has yet to feel the sting of a Saginaw Thanksgiving Day defeat.

"Taking all things into consideration, we don't have to apologize for winning only one match out of nine," is the philosophical comment of Coach A. G. Dersch. Supporting his contention is the fact that the team had hardly any practice at all before its first three matches which it dropped convincingly. After that, they gave all opponents stiff battles. The highlight of the season was when Rudy Steffe, the most consistent Hill golfer, bested the hitherto unbeaten Ford Wagner of Bay City, 2 to 1. With four men returning next year, all things point to a powerful team for 1937.

TRACK

After a green first season of track last year, the 1936 tracksters took a remarkable leap in cinder prominence around the Valley circles. Outstanding was Bob Smith, quarter miler, who, unbeaten in Valley competition, had to go to the state tournament at Grand Rapids to find a conqueror. Bob Powers and Erwin Wegner always gave the Jacks first and second places in the shotput. Captain Ray Achard and Bob Gunther in the dashes and Lloyd Sparks in the mile were other consistent point-getters.

April 2—Dual meet—Saginaw first, Arthur Hill second.
April 22—Dual meet—Arthur Hill first, Alma second.

May 16—Regional tournament—Saginaw first, Flint Central second, Arthur Hill third, Pontiac fourth, Bay City fifth, Northern sixth.
May 23—State tournament—Smith with a second and Wegner with a fifth place were Arthur Hill's only points.

TENNIS

Although most of the tennis members were inexperienced, they played with such spirit and determination that they gave their opponents a stiff battle. Sullivan and Durham played outstanding games, many times saving the Jacks from complete annihilation by taking their doubles match.

SCIENCES

BIOLOGY

Very active in social affairs, the Biology Club had a sleigh ride, a theater party, a scavenger hunt, and sponsored a tea dance and a trip through the Reichert Bakery. Upper left—George Alger and "Matilda."

ALCHEMISTS, CRUCIBLES

Jointly the Alchemist and Crucible Clubs enjoyed a Christmas party, potluck, and a trip to Detroit where they went through the Ford plant and Greenfield Village. The clubs sponsored many candy-apple sales and a sale of Arthur Hill football and basketball pins.

FEATURES

Co-operation between the Saginaw merchants and the Legenda and the Arthur Hill News is absolutely necessary, since over sixty per cent of the income of each must be obtained from advertising.

Stella Thamm of the Legenda business staff sells Mr. William Hinds of Hinds and Weinberg Drug Store, one of the most loyal and remunerative advertisers, copy for this year's book.

SENIOR

In 1930 the Arthur Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools was formed with twenty-six charter members.

To be eligible a student must stand in the upper third of his class in scholarship, taking into consideration his entire senior high school record. The teachers who have had these students in a class or an activity recommend those they consider most worthy from the standpoint of character, service, and leadership.

Left: National Honor Assembly, with Dr. J. O. Perrine, national vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, as guest speaker.

HONORS

IPPEL CUP

Service to the school is the basis of the Ippel Cup award. The boy or girl who has done the most to further the best interests of the school since his enrollment at Arthur Hill is awarded the honor each year at the June Commencement exercises.

Seniors who have won the reward are: 1922, Harry Hawkins; 1923, Raymond Hart; 1924, Walter Strobel; 1925, Roland Waite; 1926, Delbert Rice; 1927, Helen Cartwright; 1928, Ben Kessel; 1929, Clarence Steltzriede; 1930, Dorothy Schroeder; 1931, John Cramer; 1932, Lorna Schemm; 1933, Lyman Bittman; 1934, Ellen Roeser; 1935, Harry Denyes.

Below—the Ippel Cup

ALONZO L. BINGHAM SCHOLARSHIP

In 1893 an appropriation was arranged by the Honorable Arthur Hill whereby each year one high school graduate would be given a scholarship for the University of Michigan. This grant was divided into four scholarships, each approximately $250 a year for four years. The award is open to any academic student who notifies the trustees of his desire to compete.

Students now at the University enjoying the privileges of Arthur Hill's four scholarships are David Stewart, Rosemary Neuhaus, and Carol Golden.

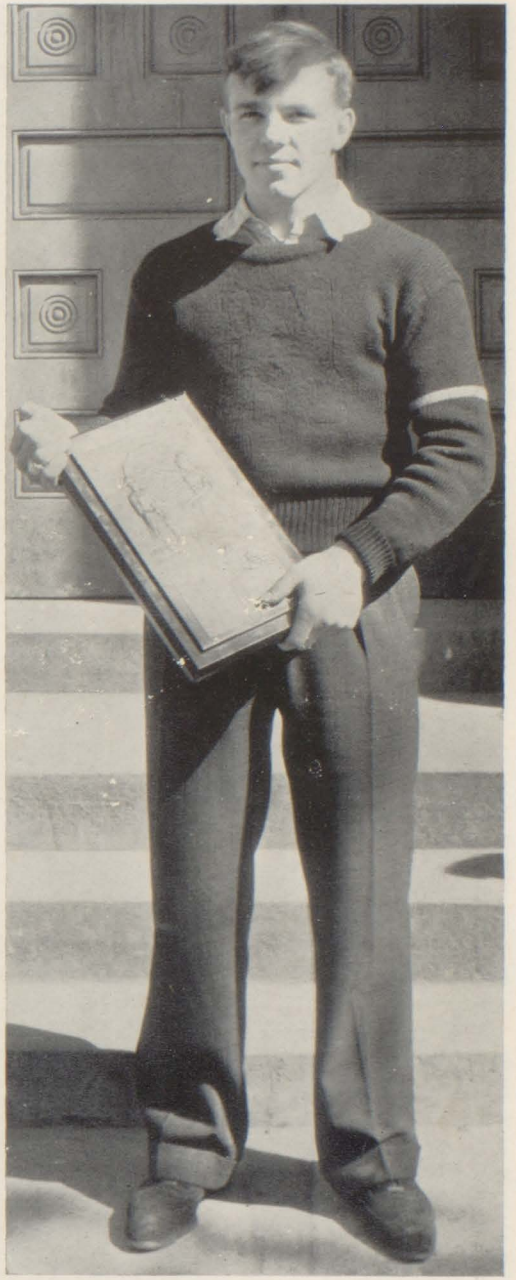
MICHIGAN ALUMNI TROPHY

Robert Powers '36 is the ninth student to have his name engraved upon the Michigan Alumni Trophy which is awarded to the senior boy who is judged superior in scholarship, athletics, and leadership.

Saginaw's University of Michigan Club presented the Honor Trophy to Arthur Hill in 1928. The committee to select the winner is composed of the principal, junior and senior advisers, and the athletic adviser.

Last year's winner was Henry Bremer.



Right—Robert Powers

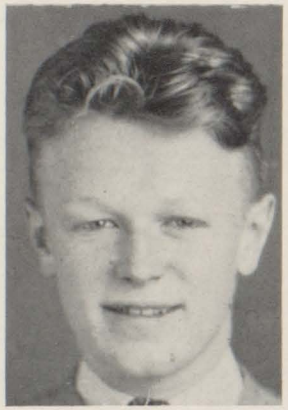
RAYMOND ACHARD

Fleet - footed Ray Achard, the midget athlete, sped to his niche in the hall of fame for exploits on the gridiron and cinder path. It was Ray's long jaunts around end and through tackle that provided the Lumberjack football team with the opportunity to push over scores to win. In the spring it was Ray's running and jumping that proved an asset in leading the track team to new heights in modern times of the Valley League.

— HALL OF FAME —

"Carrot-top," "Red," "Brick-head"—William is so well-liked that he has never been given any of these uncomplimentary nicknames, although his ruddy thatch may well merit any of them. Instead, he is familiarly known to his pals as "Bill."

Bill was very nearly heartbroken when he injured his right hand and was unable to play tennis for the rest of the season. But then Bill persevered in spite of difficulties and shadowed his team so he could at least cheer them on.



WILLIAM CARMELL

Business Education is :-

if you hope to take advantage of the best opportunities a business career has to offer.

VITAL,
if you find it necessary to earn all or part of your way through college or university.

VALUABLE,
to the Nth degree, if you want a most efficient aid in the pursuit of your regular college course.

SALLY CONNERY

"What will not woman, gentle woman dare?" Although those words may not have originated inside of Sally's sleek, blond head, "them's her sentiments, exzackly!" For this sagacious student, although small in stature, has great ideas concerning girls' achievements, and Sally's laugh cannot be described — but the word "infectious" goes with it, just as her wide, observing eyes, turned-up nose, and firm chin coincide with Sally's boyish manner and engaging personality.

—HALL OF FAME—

JOHN FLEISCHMANN

"Tall, dark, and handsome" — that old saying, which is so often misused, can be readily applied to John. To hear him rattle off "indubitably," a favorite adverb of his'n, is a revelation. Coolness and calmness are words that always seem to be associated with John's manner.

VALERIE FORDNEY

"Still waters run deep" is true of Valerie Fordney, the quiet, dusky-haired, football queen's attendant who is also vice-president of the Student Union Cabinet. Friendly and ready for fun, the gal is a talented pianist and cook, as well as a fearless swimmer and rabid tennis fan. A few presidencies — one apiece in the Personality Club and her advisory — occupy some of the time that she spends at school.

HALL OF FAME

CLEMENTINE HOLMES

Equally well known as "Clem," Clementine, News editor, once said, " 'A thing worth doing is worth doing well' ", and she practices what she preaches, especially in her News and Legenda work.

Her favorite color is blue — to match her eyes which once in a while can sparkle dangerously when she becomes angry. She maintained an almost perfect scholastic record.

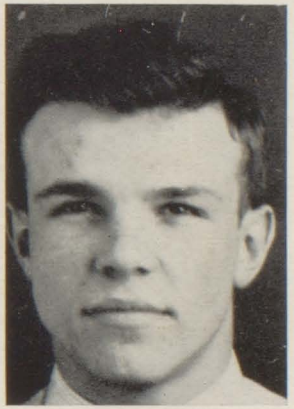
Diminutive Ellen MacDonald became "Her Highness" on Homecoming Day when she reigned as "Queen Ellen of the Pigskin." Happy-go-lucky yet serious, she found time for a giggle or two between classes but while in class she busied herself with getting good grades. She enjoys swimming and can swing a mean golf club. Public speaking and dramatics are among her interests.

ELLEN MacDONALD

—HALL OF FAME—

An open manner, a friendly grin that fairly shouts "Hello, Pal" at everyone, describes Bob Powers and at the same time explains the reason for his popularity. "Just Bob" around school, it was "Co-captain Powers" on the football field where he conveyed some of his own bubbling enthusiasm to his teammates and led them on to notable victories. It was this same spirit and love of athletics that led him to participate in track meets and other school activities.



ROBERT POWERS

CLARE SAUVE

Handsome Clare, "Tukey" to his close associates, wins his claim to immortality in Arthur Hill through his prowess as a fullback on the football team. However, football was not his only love; basketball and baseball claimed his attention also. As for his studies—let's forget them—anyway who cares about the perimeter of a parallelogram when he can make a touchdown "while thousands cheer."

Clare Sauve

HALL OF FAME

"The eternal feminine doth draw us upward"—and so does Lorraine in all her femininity raise the spirit and morale of those who know her. Part of her appeal is due to her quiet, kind manner and her sweet graciousness. The other part is due to her willingness to do her share in school activities. Lorraine was treasurer of the Student Union Cabinet and showed her wide interest in dramatics and debate, in the Commencement of 1935, and the junior and senior plays.
